

Gina Lewis, Computer Science at Southside

Gina has been teaching for 30 years and computer science for two years. She was led to teach Computer Science through her desire to push herself mentally. She would like to show other girls and women that they can do anything. (no matter their age)

Her favorite class in high school was English, and in college all of her computer classes. Her dream job is teaching computer science at Southside.

Advice: Believe in yourself, don't give up when I gets hard. It's OK to cry, but proving you can do it to yourself is the best feeling ever.
